WOMAN, 80, WORKED IN MINES

Grandmother, Yet Able to Be on the Job Ten Hours a Day, Telling Like a Man.

Mrs. Bridget McHugh, the oldest "pit-brow" woman in the Pemberton, Eng., coal field, is dead at the age of 80 years. For more than half a century she had worked at the mines.

"Old Bridget," as Mrs. McHugh was familiarly called, was a hale and hearty, strongly built woman who could use a shovel in filling mine cars as well as any man, and was always looked upon as an expert pit-brow worker, few being her equal. The shorter working day was unknown to her, and summer and winter, rain or shine, she was accustomed to leave home at five o'clock every morning, and was in her place at the coal bank before the whistle sounded at six. Her day continued until five or six at night. Mrs. McHugh was a grandmother, and two of her sons are employed in the colliery where she worked so long.

Crystals of Unlimited Size.

Artificial crystals of great regularity and clearness, and of almost unlimited size, are claimed as products of the perfected process of R. W. Moore, an American physicist. The usual growing of crystals consists in evaporating the solution in which a little crystal is suspended as a nucleus. In the new method, the solution is kept slightly supersaturated, and the growth continues as long as this condition is maintained. Crystals of Rochelle salt (sodium-potassium tartrate) more than three inches long and two inches thick have been produced, with all surfaces and angles perfect. This salt is most soluble in hot water, and supersaturation is obtained by dissolving in hot water, and slightly cooling. With the aid of a thermostat the temperature is so regulated as to keep up the supersaturated condition. The seed crystal is suspended in the solution of the material, and growth is said to continue indefinitely with efficient control.

Willing to Help the Needy.

A famous woman teacher, eighty years old, was sitting on the veranda of a college dormitory in her wheel chair. A student had just brought her some ice water in her silver mug and the teacher had finished drinking it when some tourists came up, saw her sitting there holding out her cup, and they dropped a half dollar in it. Imagine their feelings when they discovered who the "beggar" was!

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

Sunday, the 25th, was a good day at the Methodist church, especially the morning services. There were present 105 at Sunday school, making the average for January 100 1-2. Several visitors from the Baptist Sunday school were present, since their stove was in such condition they could have no fire. Among the visitors was Bro. Stroup, who, with the others, remained for the preaching service. Brother Stroup kindly consented to preach and used for his text a part of Gen. 3:9—"Where art thou?" The message came with that peculiar force that so riveted the thought to the minds of the audience that we went out from that hour of worship with the one question before us as to where we stand with relation to God and our fellow man—a thought that if folks could but take time to ponder would revolutionize conditions among us. We extend a hearty welcome to Bro. Stroup and his congregation to be with us at any time like conditions occur, and assure them we will reciprocate.

On each Sunday at 2:00 p. m. we have an informal meeting for the discussion of plain, everyday questions which are so easily overlooked, and many things concerning which we soon forget. This is no organization and therefore has no name. No one is required to "stand up" and talk—no parliamentary rules—just everyday social politeness.

A "faithful few" of the young people meet in Epworth League service each Sunday evening at 6:00 o'clock. They are planning for things in the future, and we are hoping with them for a fruition of these plans ere spring time comes.

Preaching services each Sunday evening, beginning at 7:00 o'clock.

When we began services Sunday evening after the congregation had gathered, we thought of Bro. Stroup's text Sunday morning. Repeat this text Sunday morning and go to church and answer it.

If you would like to see Bro. O. B. Davis, our Sunday school superintendent look his best, just come to Sunday school on Sunday morning and remain for preaching service and see how his pleasant feeling is passed on to the pastor. We believe if you will try this awhile it will pass on to you. Now, if you don't happen to count yourself one to whom this applies, I am sure Bro. Stroup or Bro. Sanders would smile to see you; or the superintendent at the Christian church. When you hear the church bell ring, please have a TALK with YOURSELF and act according to an honest decision.

LIFT CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

Doesn't hurt! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the corns, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off.
